ATHENS (PIRAEUS), GREECE

Piraeus is Athens' main port, the biggest in Greece, and one of the most important in the Mediterranean. It is walking distance from Kastella, a hill strewn with beautiful houses that offers a majestic view of the Saronic Gulf. Piraeus is also home to an archaeological museum, a naval museum and the picturesque area of Microlimano.

Athens is approximately seven miles from Piraeus. It is the capital of Greece, one of the world's oldest cities. Its recorded history spans at least 3,000 years. The overall experience in Athens covers more levels of culture than any other place in Greece. The gifts of the gods are what make Athens special in Greek history. According to myths and traditions the goddess Athena gave the city an olive tree as token of her protection of the city and the god Dionysos gave the vine tree, today everlasting symbols of the town.
